KEEPING OUT OF DEBT IS ONE OF THE CARDINAL PRINCIPLES OF HAPPINESS

Not the difference between being a little behind or a little ahead—what a colossal difference in results it produces as compared with the little difference in cause! Charles Dickens has expressed in English money, in pounds and shillings, an idea which we can express roughly in terms of American money about as follows: "I make $1 a day and spend $1.05. Results: Debt, poverty, harassment, defeat, misery. I make $1 a day and spend 95 cents. Results: Independence, security, achievement, property, freedom from financial worry and debt."

Perhaps the great reason why so many people stay in debt and poverty is because they do not realize how narrow is the line between the bondage of debt and the glorious independence of thrift. Spending just a little less than we make puts us in the world of thrift and independence.

Furthermore, in the long run the family that stays out of debt has more comforts and conveniences than the family that goes into debt. For as soon as we get into debt, we must sacrifice a good deal of this year's income for interest on last year's debts. Then because of this year's income must be taken to pay on last year's debt, we find it still harder to "get by" this year without adding still further to the debt-burden.

College Notes

(By Mrs. F. L. Thomas)

For Mrs. Anderson

Mrs. R. M. Sherwood, president of the Woman's Auxiliary of the College Station Presbyterian church entertained Monday afternoon, from three-thirty to five o'clock honoring Mrs. Norman Anderson, wife of Rev. Norman Anderson, pastor of the church. The rooms were decorated with vases of lovely red radiance roses. The guests brought bits of needlework and enjoyed a delightfully informal reunion after their summer vacation.

Mrs. D. H. Reid and Mrs. R. E. Karper distributed the year books outlining the work of the auxiliary for the winter and spring. A number of women present agreed to go to Calvert to the meeting to be held there Thursday, the 4th. Mrs. Sherwood, assisted by Mrs. L. J. Burt and Mrs. E. B. Brown, served iced tea, sandwiches, cakes, German tea rings and olives. Rev. Norman Anderson called during the tea hour. Those enjoying this occasion were: Mesdames Norman Anderson, J. M. Mayo, Mark Francis, D. W. Williams, W. A. Dunne, D. H. Reid, C. B. Campbell, C. O. Sieckle, L. G. Jones, M. L. Cashion, S. R. Gammon, F. C. Bolton, F. B. Brown, L. J. Burt, F. L. Thomas, J. W. Mitchell, R. E. Karper, and W. W. Daup.

To Meet Thursday

The first meeting of the College Station Parent-Teacher Association for this session will be held Thursday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the school building. Prof. Gross and the teachers will outline their plans for the year's work and present the most urgent needs of the school. All members are urged to be present and start the work off with enthusiasm by pledging their loyal support. The school is most fortunate in the faculty it has secured for the year and if the parents will do their part great things can be accomplished this winter.

The membership committee, composed of Mrs. D. B. Reid, B. D. Marburger, Ernest Gibbons, W. Lloyd, and D. T. Killough have been working hard for the past few weeks and have many new names to present for membership. These ladies will act as hostesses Thursday afternoon and every one is assured a cordial welcome. Mrs. S. M. Jones, vice president and chairman of the year book committee, will read the program for the year and distribute the year books. For the sake of your child, and of other child in A. and M. College, be on time, and help to make this the most successful year the school has ever had.

SMITH GIVEN PRAISE FROM U. S. SENATOR

PROHIBITION AND RELIGIOUS QUESTION DISCUSSED BY SENATOR SHEPPARD

Scoring the republican party for betraying the masses of the American people, and eulogizing the life of Governor Alfred E. Smith, United States Senator Morris Sheppard addressed an audience at Hearne Tuesday afternoon on the subject of the candidacy of Governor Smith. In the audience were a large number of Bryan citizens. The Senator said he held no brief for Tammany, but in that organization were many honest, upright, and true men, who had used the organization, which had been such a good friend to Jefferson, Jackson, and the old South, to achieve positions of power and responsibility. He denounced those who would vote against Governor Smith on prohibition, when it is a part of the constitution and he is pledged to uphold the law, and because of his way of worshipping God.

Among the from Bryan at the speaking were Judge W. C. Davis, F. L. Henderson, Oak McKenzie, W. E. Neely, R. V. Armstrong

Clinton Carnes to Be With the Baptists Again

(By Associated Press)

Radios Are to Broadcast Games

White Tells of Smith Position

EMPORIA, Kan., Oct. 3.—William Allen White will continue his slashing assaults upon Governor Alfred E. Smith's record as a free lance, he emphatically declared on his arrival home today.

Telegrams and letters have come to him asking him to make speeches before republican clubs throughout the country but the Kansas editor intimated that for the next 10 days he would confine himself to a typewriter barrage on the democratic nominee.

One thing certain—he expects to enter the campaign immediately in favor of Herbert Hoover, but he said:

"Before going any further, I want to make two or three things definitely certain.

"First, what I shall do for Mr. Hoover, I shall do as a Kansas country editor and not under the advice, auspices, or control of the republican presidential campaign committee.

"Second, I want it definitely understood once and for all that I have never at any time retracted anything that I have said about Governor Smith's public record. I withdrew from further discussion the evidence of certain votes cast in the New York assembly which he cast, and does not deny that he cast, in relation to prostitution. I have never injected this into the discussion since.

"Governor Smith's friends interpreted my generosity for weakness, a cowardly and cruel thing to do. But I have retracted nothing even though I withdrew from the debate all prostitution votes.

"The third thing I wish to make definite now is this: I admire Governor Smith and believe in his high qualities of courage, wisdom, and honesty. I have said nothing in my discussion of his record which would imply against him the slightest moral turpitude or the slightest question of folly or of cowardice.

"But I feel that there are deeply vital reasons why this election to the presidency would be a menace to American institutions, chiefly because he thinks in Tammany terms and would Tammanize America."

MISSOURI EDITOR SUICIDE

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 3.—W. R. Hollister, 50, editor of the Jefferson City Capital News, committed suicide at his home here last night. The body was found this morning. He is well known in national democratic political circles.

Sewanee Game Expected to Be First Real Test for Aggies; Only Davis Is Expected to Be Missing From Line-Up

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 3.—The Texas Aggies of Coach Dana X. Bible will go up against what is expected to be their first real test of the season Saturday when they meet the Sewanee Tigers in the mountains indicate Sewanee will again invade Texas with strong aerial attack and Coach Bible is paying particular attention to this phase of his defense. The Tigers have demonstrated in the past that they are very adept at passing and this part of the Sewanee attack has always been the hardest for the Aggies to stop.

Sewanee this year is said to have the strongest eleven in many years with a large number of veterans on the squad and a wealth of material from last year's freshman squad. The Sewanee freshmen last year were champions in their class of the Southern conference. Last Saturday while the Aggies were downing the Pirate eleven, the Tigers defeated Bryan, the school which defeated them last year in an early season game, and everything points to one of the most successful seasons in the Tigers' history.

A large number of former students of Sewanee are reported on the Sewanee campus priming the Tigers for the coming battle and there is little doubt that Coach Bible's men will face an inspired eleven Saturday. For Texas graduates of Sewanee the day will be a homecoming and more color and fight is expected for the game than has been shown in many years.

Coach Bible expects to take a large squad to Dallas for the game so he will have plenty of reserve strength in case of warm weather. "Regardless of the weather, we want a fast game," he said.

Brazos County Clubs Boys Win Trips to Fair

The Brazos county club boys winning trips to the Dallas Fair are Robert Kindt of King's Highway, Frank Conaway of Independence, Raymond Moore of Steep Hollow, and Alphonse Habarta of Smeatana. These boys will be the guests of the Fair Association on October 9-10-11, and the Bryan Chamber of Commerce will furnish them transportation thus making the trip entirely free. It is a wonderful opportunity for a boy to get a broader vision of life and its possibilities and help him set up some definite goals to strive for.

The following week club girls will be similarly entertained for three days at the fair. The names of the winner from Brazos county will be given later.

Invitations of Interest Are Received Here

The following wedding invitations have been received in Bryan and are of special interest to the many old time friends of Senator and Mrs. Perry Lewis. Mrs. Lewis is a sister of Mrs. M. W. Sims of this city, formerly resided in Bryan, and Senator Lewis also has a host of friends here.

"Mr. and Mrs. Perry Joshua Lewis request the honor of your presence at the marriage of their daughter, Margaret Wilson to Mr. Henry Belin du Pont, on Wednesday the twenty-fourth of October, at half after eight o'clock, St. Mark's Episcopal church, San Antonio, Texas."

Cards enclosed are, "Mr. and Mrs. Perry Joshua Lewis request the pleasure of your company on Wednesday the twenty-fourth of October, at nine o'clock, 205 West French Place." "Will be at home after the first of January at Rehoboth, Wilmington, Delaware."

AUSTIN, Oct. 3.—Senator J. W. Hall of Houston tendered his resignation Tuesday as state senator of the Sixteenth Senatorial District to Governor Dan Moody, effective immediately. Senator Hall, who was a holdover, was elected tax collector of Harris county in the recent primaries. He resigned as state senator early so that the election of his successor can be held on November 6, the same date as the general election.

fensive play of the team is not being neglected. Positions are being filled with Aggie regulars as much as possible in practice so the offensive can be perfected to as great an extent as possible.

A. & M. Commandant

Maintaining his opposition virtually until the moment when the state convention at Rochester nominated him by acclamation, the former secretary of the navy said in a message of acceptance that he would consent to become a candidate if he could "help the cause of our beloved government," although "every personal and family consideration is against it."

Before the convention acted, the democratic leader, who already has launched upon a vigorous speaking campaign in behalf of the national ticket, had telegraphed the Associated Press in Atlanta that he could not become a candidate for the New York executive's chair. His message was in reply to one asking for his position in view of the demand of convention leaders that he be nominated.

Upon being notified later by an Associated Press staff correspondent that he formally had been nominated, he explained his earlier messages by saying he did not wish to be put in the light of being a candidate for the nomination. He did not want to be and was not a candidate for the honor, he said, but now that he had been summoned, he would be guided by his telegram of acceptance.

This message, which was addressed to Oliver Cabana, convention chairman, was sent only after he had gone to the local telephone office and called for a second message sent him by the Associated Press telling him of the nomination. He refused to make any comment whatever on his nomination until he had seen the Associated Press telegram advising him of it.

Mr. Roosevelt later issued a statement concerning his immediate plans.

"I plan to carry out my schedule of speaking engagements in behalf of the national ticket which already has been announced. I am to speak at Columbus, Ga., at a mass meeting on Thursday of this week to the citizens of Western Georgia and Eastern Alabama," he said.

Roosevelt to Be Candidate for Governor

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Oct. 3.—Franklin D. Roosevelt today agreed to set aside his personal preference to aid Governor Smith in his campaign for the presidency by accepting the democratic nomination for governor of New York State.

Maintaining his opposition virtually until the moment when the state convention at Rochester nominated him by acclamation, the former secretary of the navy said in a message of acceptance that he would consent to become a candidate if he could "help the cause of our beloved government," although "every personal and family consideration is against it."

Abolition of Fraternities Is Considered

AUSTIN, Oct. 3.—Abolishing of fraternities at the University of Texas was favored by many regents at a meeting of the board in relation to the death of Nolte McElroy of Houston, following an electrical shock sustained during his initiation by the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity. President H. Y. Benedict was authorized to appoint a committee to investigate all fraternities and sororities and to take what steps if any, should be taken to abolish them.

An immediate change in the system was favored by R. L. Battle of Austin, himself a fraternity man; Sam Neathery of McKinney, Robert Holliday of El Paso and Marcellus Foster of Houston. H. L. Darwin of Paris suggested as a solution, that three large dormitories for men be built to be financed by incoming rentals.

Commandant of A. & M. College Is Promoted to Rank of Colonel; He Is Given a Surprise Celebration

(Special to The Eagle) COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 3.—Promotion of Lt.-Col. C. J. Nelson, head of the military department and commandant at the A. & M. College of Texas, to the rank of colonel was announced in orders of the War Department received here yesterday and made known to Col. Nelson in what was to him a surprise celebration at his residence on the campus Tuesday evening.

When Col. Nelson discovered of a sudden during the evening that President and Mrs. T. O. Walton together with members of the military department and their wives had descended upon his residence in a body, he was more or less at a loss to understand just what the occasion was. His visitors were not long in permitting him to speculate. Major John E. Sloan produced and read the War Department order of promotion. Captain A. M. Guidera, as adjutant of the military staff, administered the oath of office upon acceptance of the promotion, and Mrs. Nelson producing the necessary insignia of her husband's new rank, a pair of silver eagle emblems, pinned them on the shoulders of the colonel's blouse. Felicitations followed. The new rank is in effect as of Sept. 28.

Col. Nelson, infantry, U. S. A. (DOL), prior to being assigned to A. & M. College in September of 1927, was executive officer of the Ninth Infantry at Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio. He has known army life ever since his college days, having volunteered as a private in the Alabama National Guard at the outbreak of the Spanish American war. He graduated with the class of 1897 from the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, at Auburn, one of the land grant colleges.

During the Spanish American war he was promoted to first lieutenant and was commissioned in the regular army in 1899 as a second lieutenant of infantry. From 1899 to 1907 he was with the Seventeenth Infantry, from 1907 to 1914 with the Twenty-fourth Infantry and from 1914 to 1919 with the Quartermaster Corps.

During the World War, Col. Nelson was a general staff officer with the Thirty-first and Ninety-second Divisions, commander of the 808th Pioneer Infantry and colonel of the Sixty-third Infantry. In 1920-21, he was on general recruiting duty, stationed at Denver, Colo. He was senior instructor for the Illinois National Guard (Thirty-third) from 1921 to 1924. He graduated from the general staff and command school of the army at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., in 1925, going after that to the Ninth Infantry.

During his college days at Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Col. Nelson was a football star and participated in various other sports. He lettered in the gridiron sport, also in baseball and track and in addition he was wielder of the tennis racket. He played football in 1893 at the University of Maryland.

Six A. and M. College students have been suspended for a year for violating a law of the statute books—hazing. A. and M. College has many traditions of which all Texans may justly feel proud, but there is one custom that is neither hallowed nor honored, and that one is hazing. When a great community of boys live together some of them in their enthusiasm are likely to overstep the traces and take part in paddling freshmen. But this is likely to lead to excessive paddling, resulting in serious injury to the victims. Paddling may be manly, but if it is, it belongs to the man of the stone or dark age. It requires no bravery for an upperclassman to paddle a defenseless freshman, and it is doubtful if it develops the mental, moral, or physical well-being of either the plaintiff or the defendant.

Bryan is truly an "educational center," not only a place where a number of schools are located, but also a place where a number of people are located who believe with an amazing unanimity in education. This was shown by the almost solid vote accorded the $90,000 school bond issue voted upon here Tuesday.

There is a law passed by the state legislature which says that students of A. and M. College who went to war may take undergraduate or advanced courses without paying tuition. This is a splendid law, and is one of the few privileges accorded men who forsook their jobs and risked their lives and limbs in the gigantic struggle of ten years ago. This law costs the state little and may mean the difference between education and ignorance, between preparedness and helplessness to some whose patriotism has been tried and tested.

There is "much ado about nothing" over the country these days because some of the young women prefer to go without stockings. Now that's nothing new. We have seen many women and girls right here in Texas in the cotton fields not only stockingless but also shoeless. In other words, barefooted. And nobody thought it so immoral or got excited about it.

The city of Dallas has purchased 298 additional acres of land to be used as an airport. This port will be in addition to Love Field. Cities all over the country are buying land to be used as airports while Bryan sits by and does nothing. The time will come when an airport will be as essential in Bryan as it is in Dallas, and now is the time to prepare for it.

The next session of the legislature in Texas is going to be confronted with several problems affecting the welfare of certain big business interests. The industry chiefly concerned is the railroads. Here we have railroad stocks artificially high, with their earnings decreasing in every report. Something must be done to eliminate the bus lines or the railroad stocks are bound to collapse; this inflation cannot keep on forever. If railroad stocks should drop greatly in value the entire country would be affected by business depressions on account of the billions invested in them by individuals and other businesses.

The Marsh-Fentress newspaper chain store organization, which owns newspapers at Austin, Waco, Wichita Falls, Beaumont, and Fort Arthur, has purchased three more papers this week, two of which were located in Cleburne. We are having chain-store ownership in newspapers as well as in telephones and dry goods and grocery stores. This further tends to eliminate the individuality of newspapers which has been fast disappearing in the last few years, and also tends to present only the capitalistic point of view.

The people of Texas sympathize with the University of Texas in the death of Nolte McElroy, University student, who was electrocuted Sunday night in a fraternity initiation. Nolte, son of a Houston banker, was center of the Longhorn football team, and a boy of fine attributes. There was another example of where play may result in a fatality.

The Kiwanis club of Navasota is to have Rev. States Jacobs, pastor of a Presbyterian church in Houston, for its speaker. A service club that occasionally invites out-of-town speakers acts wisely. This practice injects new spirit into such a club.

Reports from the West indicate that Governor Alfred E. Smith has just made a most successful and profitable tour of that section, and in many States that always have gone Republican the political leaders fear that Smith will carry them. The West has been most profoundly impressed by the frankness and sincerity of the Democratic nominee.

The people of Bryan and College deeply sympathize with the officials of Prairie View Normal, which this week sustained a disastrous and fatal fire. Prairie View is a very valuable educational institution, and has done much toward the solving of the race problems in this State.

The local telephone company has been given orders, from Little Rock or some other distant point, for telephone girls not to disseminate the information of the location of a fire when the alarm is sounded. This ruling is in keeping with the spirit of centralization of industry, which means the removal as much as possible of the human element. The president of the company in his swivel chair in a large city may fail to appreciate why the citizens of a small city are anxious and solicitous of the location of a fire. A fire alarm in a big city has no significance. People there care little and know less about the other fellow. But in a small city we are all one big family; we rejoice in the successes of others and we mourn in their losses. When the fire alarm is sounded, we want to know whose home or business is ablaze and perhaps at the point of destruction. The people of the small city are kind, sympathetic, and anxious to render aid to those in need. In a place where there is a volunteer fire department the location of the fire is even greater. For the telephone company to refuse to allow "central" to tell a sympathetic public the name of the owner of the home that is in the throes of destruction with the possible loss of life, is robbing the people of a custom that is found in sympathetic, Christian community where the sorrows of one are the sorrows of others.

Bryan's star amateur singers, Miss Kathleen Cason and George Griffin Jr., Sunday crowded Al Smith and Herbert Hoover off the front page. These local winners of the Atwater Kent contest held here recently had their pictures on the front pages of the newspapers of the state. Bryan has received much publicity because it was the first to be held in the state. It is a good thing, irrespective of whether it is growing spinach, wearing a fall hat, or proposing to your girl.

The fire bug took a heavy toll here Sunday when the Parker Warehouse was destroyed by fire, a quarter of a million dollars worth of cotton being burned. To the farmers, if there were any, who lost their cotton without insurance, the Eagle extends the deepest sympathy. It is nothing slight of tragedy for more than 2,000 bales of cotton to be burned, which represent a year's labor, planning, and sacrifice for scores of the tillers of the soil.

The trend of big business, which has flourished with such handsome profits under the past two Republican administrations, was revealed again Saturday when five independent oil producers effected a $3,000,000 combination. The independent oil company has a struggle for existence just as all other independent lines of endeavor under present conditions. The small fellow who cries, "give me independence or give me death" may be assured of his alternative coming true, and it probably will not be far off.

It doesn't pay to be too skeptical. Some people hear the whistle but don't believe the train is coming until they are knocked off the track.

Financial and Agricultural Conditions in Texas Show Improvement in August Over July Says Federal Reserve Bank

DALLAS, Sept. 26.—Banking conditions in the Southwest continue generally sound, unfavorable weather has reduced prospects for agricultural production although indications point to crops in excess of a year ago, and merchandising distribution reflects a substantial improvement, says the August report of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas, made public today.

Lack of moisture has caused some deterioration of ranges in sections of the Eleventh Federal Reserve district, but the physical condition of both livestock and ranges in the major areas of Texas, New Mexico and Southeastern Arizona has improved steadily and the outlook is good, according to the business summary. The volume of building operations showed a gain of 41 percent over July, but was 13 percent less than a year ago.

Sales of department stores in larger cities were 11 percent larger than the previous month, and wholesale distribution showed a seasonal increase, the report goes on. A substantial amount of the district's funds is being employed in the New York call money market and there is a marked trend toward centralization of financing by large corporations in the district.

The month witnessed a substantial improvement in the business mortality rate. Both the number of failures and amount of indebtedness involved reflected a sharp decline over July and were smaller than a year ago.

Due to unfavorable weather, the report continues, some deterioration in crops is reported, but with the exception of corn and oats, the production of all major field crops will probably exceed that of the preceding year. Cotton has taken a setback since the issuance of the Sept. 1 Department of Agriculture report which estimated Texas production at 5,100,000 bales. Root rot has spread rapidly over the state, except North-west, West and West-Center. Boll worms, boll weevils, and in some sections, the cotton hopper and leaf worms, have done considerable damage and may tend to reduce further the prospects of this year's production. Dry weather over a large area also has caused premature opening of the bolls, which is likewise reducing earlier expectations. Cotton in all the older growing territory is opening rapidly and should wet weather set in, there would be a large amount of low grade staple this year, says the review.

Cotton in North Louisiana and Southeastern Oklahoma also shows considerable deterioration due to dry weather and insect activity. Although earlier prospects for feed crops have been reduced, most sections will produce a sufficient supply for next year's needs, according to the bank's summary. The Texas corn crop, based on Sept. 1 condition, indicates a yield of 101,871,000 bushels compared with 119,347,000 in 1927. Grain sorghum promises a yield of only 51,274,000 bushels to a prospect of 64,344,000 bushels on Aug. 1. No change is indicated in the rice crop, with an indicated production of 6,092,000 bushels.

Sowing of fall wheat has started in Northwest Texas and prospects are that acreage seeded this year will exceed the 2,629,000 acres sown last fall. Concerning livestock, the report says: "In Northwest, West, and West-Center Texas, New Mexico and Southeastern Arizona, conditions are fair to excellent, with ranges in some sections in a better condition than in many years." In this area rains have been plentiful, grass has grown rapidly and there is an ample supply of stock water. Pasture in most of these sections will be sufficient to carry the stock through the winter. In the South and Coast sections of Texas ranges are very dry, grass is short and stock water is low. In these sections prospects for winter pasturage are very poor, but reports indicate there is sufficient feed available for stock on hand. While more rain is needed in most sections of East and Central Texas to provide adequate fall and winter feed, hay and feed crops generally are plentiful in those localities where rain has been sufficient. In those sections where range conditions are good, there is an active demand for all classes of livestock, and the market continues strong.

Shipments of lumber from pine mills exceeded production in August and were the heaviest of any previous month in recent years, the report continues. Stocks held at the close of the month were reduced below normal for the first time since last December. As to petroleum the summary said in part: "Total production of crude oil in the Eleventh Federal Reserve District which amounted to 22,135,450 barrels in August reflected a reduction of 1,021,250 barrels as compared to July, but exceeded the output in the corresponding month of last year by 1,469,725 barrels. There were 656 completions during the month of which 377 were producers of oil yielding 699,879 barrels of new production as against 540 completions in the previous month that netted 296 oil producers with an initial flow of 366,953 barrels. Initial production in August reached a new high level and was due primarily to the completion of large wells in Central West Texas.

"The daily average output of crude oil in Texas fields amounted to 673,863 barrels which was 29,260 barrels less than in July. North Texas reported a decline of 26,353 barrels in daily average production and Central West Texas showed a recession of 3,297 barrels. Only a slight variation was noted in production of each of the East Central, Texas Coastal, and Southwest Texas regions, the net difference of the three regions being only 390 barrels larger in daily average output than in July. "A gradual decline in field work in Winkler county, Central West Texas, occurred throughout the month. While an increase in allowable production in the Yates area, also in Central West Texas, was granted during the thirty days, the yield is still below available pipe line facilities. In North Texas activity was centered around the Greyback pool in Willbarger county.

"Total output in North Louisiana declined from 1,359,900 barrels in July to 1,245,700 barrels in August."

Large Crowd in Bryan Saturday

Large crowds began coming to Bryan early Saturday morning, and indications pointed to the best business day of the year. For the first time in several weeks, it was clear and the sun shining brightly on Saturday.

The gain in cotton prices over two weeks ago also has tended to stimulate business.

A number of football fans from nearby towns came in this afternoon to witness the game between the Aggies and Southwestern.

Give the asparagus bed a good dressing of manure this fall if it can be located. It is a great encourager of early tender stalks.

Nine-Tenths Preventable
Nine-tenths of all the diseases of the American people can be traced directly to constipation, doctors say. Constipation throws into the system poisons which taint and weaken every organ of the body and make them easy victims for any germs which attack them. Prevent constipation and you will avoid nine-tenths of all diseases with their consequent pain and financial losses. Herbine, the good old vegetable cathartic, will prevent constipation in a natural, easy and pleasant way. Get a bottle today from Roman & Vick. (Adv.)

Barron to Go to Northeast Texas

Hon. W. S. Barron, the "Happy Warrior" of Brazos, candidate for Speaker of the House, will leave tonight for Dallas, Waco, Marshall and other points in East Texas in the interest of his candidacy.

Mr. Barron said he was interested in the "straw vote" recently published which showed him in the lead, but added that he was anxious in something more substantial.

Hung Jury in Ellis Liquor Case Tuesday

The jury in the case of the State vs. John Ellis, negro, charged with the unlawful possession for purchase of sale of intoxicating liquor, reported to District Judge W. C. Davis this morning that it was unable to agree after having deliberated since Monday afternoon.

This was the first liquor case to come up for trial at this term of court and there was much interest manifested in it. Ellis has served a term in the penitentiary on a similar charge.

The defendant was represented by Judge J. G. Minkert, while County Attorney W. E. Neely was assisted in the prosecution by Law Henderson. The State made a vigorous attempt to secure a conviction.

The testimony of local peace officers in the case was that when they approached Ellis he took an iron pin and broke up a number of fruit jars which they said contained several gallons of whiskey. It also was charged that Ellis had drunk at the time. Ellis had the liquor in his meat market here.

The defense based their case on the allegation that the liquid was "mosquito lotion," and that it was impossible to judge the exact content of alcohol.

It is said that the jury stood seven to five. It is believed that one of the reasons that the jury did not agree is the increasing sentiment against convicting negroes and other poor people in liquor cases while more prominent people are permitted to go beyond the pale of the law.

State to Receive $125,000 Payment

AUSTIN, Sept. 29.—An agreed settlement by which the state gets $125,000, representing about two-thirds of the sum involved in its suit against the Oriental Oil company and some 60 other defendants, who protested payment, as wholesalers, of the 1923 one-cent gasoline tax levy, was announced by Assistant Attorney General R. M. Tilley.

Approximately $197,000 was paid under protest by the defendants for gasoline sold wholesale during the one month in 1923 that the one-cent tax was in effect, before being repealed. The money was held in a trust fund pending settlement of litigation.

Sow the spinach bed toward November 1 and then give it a good cover of straw or leaves. This will give an extra early start on the "greens" next year.

Panola County Once Produced Finest Bale Cotton Ever Grown, Now Has Reputation for Bad Staple

Some days ago Hon. W. S. Barron returned from a trip through East Texas and was heard to say that he did not know that Panola county enjoyed the finest bale of cotton ever grown. This particular bale of cotton was produced by Hardy Hooker in what is known as Woods Post Office community, the home of District Agent George W. Johnson, and near the home of President T. O. Walton.

Panola county business men used to take much interest in having the following paragraph printed on their business envelopes, daily advertising to the world the agricultural possibilities of that county: "A Panola county farmer raised a bale of cotton that took the premium at the Centennial in Philadelphia, Penn., afterwards at the World's Fair in Paris, France, Chicago, St. Louis, and other points in America and Europe, and is now encased in silk bagging and silver ties and is kept on exhibition in the Cotton Exchange in the city of New York."

Mr. Barron was not told that the farmers of that county, departing from the example set by Mr. Hooker years ago, were now producing a quality of cotton so inferior in staple, that many of the leading buyers are not only attracted to that section, but actually shun the county. Three years ago a buyer, representing one of the leading cotton firms was heard to say while stopping in a Panola county town, "I can not use the quality of cotton I find here."

Ten years ago Allen B. Hudson of the U. S. Department of Agriculture visited every community in Brazos county to inspect the quality of cotton the growers were putting out. He returned to Bryan and called a conference of the local cotton buyers and warned them that if something was not done the time would come when Bryan would suffer because of the poor staple cotton produced. Has that time come? Just last week a leading cotton buyer of Bryan, soon the town would be in the same fix as many East Texas towns are today. Shall we display the danger signal or wait to weep over the wreck? "How shall we escape, if we neglect?"

ers and security holders who do not appear upon the books of the company as trustees, hold back securities in a capacity other than that of a bona fide owner; and this affiant has no reason to believe that any other person, association, or corporation has any interest direct or indirect in the said stock, bonds, or other securities than as so stated by him.

MRS. LEE J. ROUNTREE.

Help Make Garden
"Mr. Farmer, don't depend on the tin can and paper bag. See what you can do to help your wife make a garden," says a Sawyer Oklahoma farm woman in an article recently published in the Semi-Weekly Farm News. This was in reply to a farmer's letter that asked how could it be expected of a man to live and build up the land on 16c and 20c cotton. She advises him "to plant and work a good garden, raise some hogs, get a good cow, some chickens and have his Sally to can a lot of vegetables and fruit." In other words in order to live well a farmer and his wife should carry out the live-at-home program. Why not make "live-at-home" your slogan and then actually do it?

Get Rid of Tick
Announcement was made last week that Morris Williamson had lost a fine cow as a result of tick fever. This week the same herd has another sick cow with tick fever. W. H. Darrow was near the truth when he said, "Kill the tick or ban the cow."

Use Terracing
People who are Biblically inclined, such as Hugh Looney of the Grant Lumber Company, may realize that soil conservation has been a problem through the ages, since Jeremiah 12:11-12, said, "The whole land is made desolate because no man layeth it to heart. The spoilers have come upon high places through the wilderness." The pale and bleached fields and the gully-scarred hills of Brazos county hurl back to us keepers the challenge that we have not kept faith with the Divine injunction, "Have dominion." Farm levels and Martin ditched should be kept busy every day for three months this fall and winter.

Delays Sowing
The continued dry weather is delaying plans for early fall sowing of oats and other small grain, but some will go ahead and "dust in" oats so as to be ready for the first rain when it does come. At any rate, sow the fall grain for winter grazing and cover crops. A check on the experiment farm at College some years ago showed that rye paid for the sowing every day during April when used as a grazing crop. Is it worth while?

Try This Plan
In late spring or early summer when the price of eggs on the local market hit the bottom, many poultry raisers quit feeding their flocks and turn them out to "graze, with the result that when prices are more remunerative the old hen is not in the notion." It would seem that if we expect to stay in the poultry business there is but one thing to do, and that is keep on "keepin' on," like the old farmer who sat on his front porch pulling his finger until the owl quit "hollerin'." It works. Try it.

Selecting Seed
Farmers should not select planting seed from cotton fields where there is a wilt, as is found on many sandy land fields.

Brazos County Poultry Club Has Meeting

The Brazos County Poultry Association held a very interesting and instructive meeting in the Chamber of Commerce rooms Oct. 11, according to James H. P. Chas. secretary.
After the general order of business was dispensed with Prof. D. H. Reed in a few well chosen words introduced the speaker of the evening. Professor Godby in an interesting and humorous way discussed Prof. Reed of not giving him sufficient notice to prepare his talk. Nevertheless he responded with an interesting and very instructive talk on principles of breeding and genetics. Those who had the good fortune to hear this splendid talk went home enriched with a better knowledge in the science of poultry breeding and management. Many interesting and valuable things are now before the association. Those who are vitally interested in the development of prosperous poultry industry will do well to get in touch with the association and its members.
There is so much to be done in such a short time that every poultryman should put his shoulders to the wheel and push. There never was a better time than the present time to show to the world that you are a good sport and interested in one of the greatest industries in the State. You can do this by a very little sacrifice and "cut in by attending and becoming a member of your local poultry association. The dues are only $1.00 annually if paid at this date and will give you a paid up membership until 1930.

And so, as Solomon observed long ago, "The destruction of the poor is their poverty." Debt means interest, and interest invites more debt, and so the vicious circle increases in viciousness.
When a man once gets into debt, therefore, he might as well face the fact that there is no easy way to get out. It is going to mean trouble, but the sooner one takes that trouble, the smaller it will be. A man in debt must be boss of himself. He must be able to say "No" to all temptations to extravagance and to many legitimate desires that might properly be gratified under ordinary conditions. But not while he is fighting his battle with debt.
